

PROJECT FOCUS

To improve Upper Ninety's student data management systems and processes.

DELIVERABLES

- Fall 2019 student survey data report
- 3-Year impact report
- Digitized version of student survey for Facetime program
- Summary of findings from research on alternative methods for attendance data management

Upper Ninety is a positive youth development program for teens in low-income Austin neighborhoods. Its programming combines soccer training with social-emotional learning, Restorative Justice, and mindfulness in its after-school training sessions, in-school support, and weekend games & community meet-ups.
